Reference: Yellow weather warning for the South West of England on Thursday 7th December 2024

Dear Parents and Carers,

The MET office has issued a yellow weather warning for the South West of England from midnight tonight until 19:00 tomorrow evening. This warning expresses concern for heavy rainfall, further flooding, and danger on the roads.

Please be reassured that it is our intention to keep Manor Court Community Primary School open as we have enough colleagues who live in Chard and can walk to school and can provide sufficient and safe staffing levels.

However, please anticipate that there may need to be some changes to our daily routines, such as indoor playtimes throughout the day and the adults teaching and supervising the children during the day.

If we are required to close a class, parents will receive a message via their ParentPay account from their class teacher to explain what work their child is expected to complete at home throughout the day. Each child was sent home earlier this week with a printed work pack which they are to use at times of remote learning throughout the winter. These can be downloaded and printed at home from our school website. Please follow this hyperlink:

If the weather is as bad as anticipated, please ensure that your child is dressed in suitable clothing for their journey to and from school and that you do not take unnecessary risks on your journeys.

Please do continue to check our Facebook or X (formally Twitter) accounts for further updates.

Thank you for your ongoing support.

Headteacher
